

CHAPTER CC1X.

HARI said! i—The expressed juice, or sulphate of, GuducM, taken with honey, cures all forms of Meha (urethral or urinary complaints). A decoction of GohilikA roots and sesame, taken through the vehicle of milkcurd and clarified butter, tends to set flow the suppressed urine. The same decoction taken with Sauvarcliala salt relieves hic-cough. Roots of Goraksha and Karkati pasted with Vasya water and taken for three days in succession relieves caries of the teeth and Danta-Sharkarl MAIati roots {culled in summer) and parted with goat's milk should be administered for inducing urination, as well as for the cure of Chlorosis and urinary concretions. Plasters of Brabmadandi pasted with rice-washings should be applied to scrotal tumours, scrofulous glands, and goitres, This plaster mixed with the powders of Haritaki and Rasinjanant should be applied to the genitals in cases of loss of manhood! or of virile impotency, O Rudra, a plaster composed of Pttga-phakm and Karavira roots pasted together with water would remove virile impotency. A plaster composed of Danti roots, Haridri, and Chitrakam pasted together should be employed for the cure of fistula in ano. In treating a case of fistula in ano, first apply leeches to the affected part, then wash with a solution of Triphali, and then apply a plaster of pasted cat's bone to it, whereby the Discharge of blood from the locality would be undoubtedly arrested, O thou bullensigned deity, soak Haridri with the milky exudations of Snuhi plants and <^ry them in shade, fothis many tiues in succession. Applications of plasters of such Baridr&s pasted with water to the polypi prove curative m cases of rectal haemorrhoids* A plaster cwnpbied of HaridrA-and Ghosb&- phalaz» pasted